

Caverion Germany strengthens its capabilities in automation systems through an acquisition

Press release
19 March 2026 at 15:00 CET

Caverion Germany has acquired S&A Schaltanlagenbau GmbH (“S&A”), a company focused on industrial and building automation in northwestern Germany. The company has an estimated annual revenue of EUR 6.2 million and 45 employees.

With over 30 years’ experience, S&A is a well-established specialist in industrial and building automation, delivering services and solutions spanning from consulting and design to implementation, manufacturing, and lifecycle support.

The company’s expertise covers industrial and building automation, switchgear production, hardware and software development, and industrial infrared heating technology. With technical depth and custom production capabilities, S&A serves diverse industries and supports projects of all sizes.

“We are pleased to welcome S&A’s skilled employees to the Caverion Germany team. Building and industrial automation is an important part of our strategy and with their strong competencies in this area, S&A will strengthen our position and broaden our in-house capabilities in the Hanover region and surroundings”, says Manfred Simmet, CEO Germany, EVP.

“We are excited about S&A’s future growth as part of Caverion Germany and Assemblin Caverion Group. Together, we can expand our offering and deliver even greater value to our customers and employees. We share the passion for smart solutions and a strong cultural fit that will drive continued positive development”, says Ingo Ahrbecker, who will remain as the CEO of S&A.

Closing of the transaction is estimated to take place at the end of March 2026.
